A Case of Grippe

Carr's Anti-Grippe Pills cure all cases of Grippe, far superior to any quinine compound on the market. When you are feverish, have cold in head, headaches, pains in back and chest, aching in limbs and joints, you need Carr's Anti-Grippe Pills, 25c. box. They are a dead shot to Grippe. When you are troubled with an old hanging-on cough you should take Carr's Cough Balsam. Mr. L. L. Lester says: I had an old hanging-on grippe cough. I tried everything with no effect; took Carr's Cough Balsam and was speedily cured, 25c. bottle.

THE V. M. I. FACULTY.

(Forsan (?) et hanc olim meminisse iurabit.)

Mr. Editor:—The first four of these "headhunts" were struck before or during the war by some skilled literary pugilist, and any umpire would decide that they were "fairly given." To complete the job the unfair blows below the "middle" were struck by me after the party "had left the ring." It will be seen that if the fourth stanza was written before the war it proved prophetic, as every follower of "Stonewall" can testify. The last stanza I added as a fitting tail-piece "To point a moral or adorn a tale."

Who rules with power firm and high, And governs with a watchful eye The kingdom of the V. M. I. "Old Spex."

Alias Gen. Smith, Supt.

Who loves to see us "double quick," And when he gets a chance to "stick" Will law demerits very thick? "Old Gill."

Alias Col. Gilliam, Commandant, Professor of Tactics.

Who loves to sketch the mountains green, Knows every lake and town between The V. M. I. and Palestine? "Old Tom."

Alias Col. Williamson, Professor of Geography and Drawing.

Who wears his cap so very queer, And looks as if he would not fear The whistling of a ball to hear? "Old Jack."

Alias Major (Stonewall) Jackson, Professor of Chemistry.

Who scans old Virgil "foot by foot," Knows every blessed Latin root, And lots of Greek and French to boot? "Old Bald."

Alias Col. Preston, Prof. of Ancient Languages.

Who loves to trace with steady nerve The lines of geometric curve, And from the model never swerve? "Old Gil."

Alias Col. Massie, Professor of Mathematics.

Who loves to hear us "parlez-vous," And "sprechen-sie" the German too, As if plain English would not do? "Little Tom."

Alias Col. Semmes, Professor of Modern Languages.

Whose big black face wears broadest grin, Whence he sees us slipping in, To beg some bread—nor calls it sin? "Old Judge."

Alias the big, fat, jolly, old black baker.

And the cadet's best friend, but for whose sympathy and stolen bread we should have starved, heart and stomach. Peace to the old cook's—not ashes, that is too horribly retrospective and prospective—to his spirit. Barracks, Room 30. —Pulaski "News-Review," January 17, 1899.

The smallest things may exert the greatest influence. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are unequalled for overcoming constipation and liver troubles. Small pill, best pill, safe pill.—Burrow, Martin & Co.

OF COURSE THEY HAVE.

Smith—"Did you notice that peculiar sign on the door we just passed?" Jones—"No, what was it?" Smith—"Orphan's Court."

Jones—"I fail to see anything peculiar about that. Orphans have as much right to court as other people, haven't they?"

A NATURAL DEDUCTION.

Hixon—"Are you engaged in the same business you were in last year?" Dixon—"Yes, and at the old stand still."

Hixon—"At the old standstill! Why don't you advertise and stir things up a little?"

Coughing injures and inflames sore lungs. One Minute Cough Cure loosens the cold, allays coughing and heals quickly. The best cough cure for children, perfectly harmless.—Burrow, Martin & Co.

IN AFTER YEARS.

She—"Before we were married you often spoke of being intoxicated with love for me."

He—"True, my dear, but you must remember we have been married nearly three years."

She—"Well, what's that got to do with it?"

He—"Oh, nothing! Only there isn't much hope for a man who doesn't sober up in that length of time."

CATARRH

Enlargement of the soft bones of the nose, thickening and ulceration of the lining membrane, its constant discharge of unhealthy mucus and pus; bleeding, hawking, expectorating, nose-bleeding, headaches, partial loss of hearing, and noises in the head.

Caused by Poisoned Condition of the Blood. Cured by Boleo Blood Balm (B.B.B.).

The Great Blood Remedy. Catarrh is due to an impure condition of the blood, and is one of the numerous symptoms of Blood Poison. It may have come from a long way back in the family history, but the general opinion among medical men is that Catarrh is the offset of Poisoned Blood, producing bad breath and the above-named symptoms. The fact is admitted by all that it is only curable by constitutional treatment. Boleo Blood Balm (B.B.B.) has cured some brilliant cures in the cure of this loathsome malady, and why? Because B.B.B., when taken as directed, mixes with the poison in the blood, and the above-named symptoms. The fact is admitted by all that it is only curable by constitutional treatment. Boleo Blood Balm (B.B.B.) has cured some brilliant cures in the cure of this loathsome malady, and why? Because B.B.B., when taken as directed, mixes with the poison in the blood, and the above-named symptoms.

Boleo Blood Balm (B.B.B.) is a scientific vegetable compound used by Dr. Gilliam in his private practice for blood diseases, such as Old Sores, Scrofula, Holes, Blood Poison, Catarrh, etc. For sale by all druggists at 50c. per bottle. For larger quantities, $5.00. Book of cures sent free of charge. BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga.

BERKLEY.

Mr. Harvey Howell, of Suffolk, Va., has accepted a position with Mr. J. F. Davis, a cigar manufacturer of this place.

Mr. W. Fred Johnson, of this place, wedded Miss Novella Roberts, of Windsor, last night, at 8 o'clock. The marriage took place in the town. Rev. Mr. Deans, of Windsor Academy, officiated. Miss Roberts is a cousin of Professor J. W. Roberts, of Berkley Collegiate Institute.

George Sawyer, white, was given fifteen days by the Mayor yesterday morning in the Police Court for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Mr. D. J. Bowden, of Mulberry street, who has been well and favorably known to our people for some years, left Monday for Windsor, where he will reside in future.

The Bank of Berkley will be closed to-day, it being a holiday in honor of La's birth.

Miss Mamie Upton, who has been spending several days with Mrs. S. B. Upton, on Payne street, left yesterday for her home, in Camden, N. C. accompanied by her hostess.

A colored man by the name of Puckett, who was arrested for stealing chickens from a colored woman, Laura Riddick, in the Third Ward, about two weeks ago, was given six months in jail by the Mayor yesterday morning.

Mr. George Lacey, who has been confined to his home, in Liberty street, about two weeks by a carbuncle, was able to be out yesterday.

Mr. Eddie Humphries, who was reported ill Tuesday night, was much improved yesterday.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, Publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Elden, Me., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act.—Burrow, Martin & Co.

The largest private library in the United States is said to belong to Col. Reuben T. Durrett, of Louisville, Ky., and contains over 50,000 volumes, collected during sixty years. Books on the history of the west predominate, and among them Col. Roosevelt worked out in preparing his "Winning of the West."

Mr. S. A. Fackler, Editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe, and its exhausting after-effects. Never fails.—Burrow, Martin & Co.

The presents that Abdul Hamid made to the German Emperor and Empress were sent by sea to Hamburg and occupied the whole of a railway compartment. When they arrived some weeks ago, among them were embroideries, the richest Turkey carpets, wonderful silken stuffs and brocades from the Imperial factory at Herke, pictures, jewels and objects d'art. Among other things were two cedars of Lebanon, a small coffee tree that the Emperor had admired very much in the Sultan's garden at Constantinople, and seventy fowls of the rarest kinds for the Empress' poultry yard.

A traveler in Paris tells the strangest tale of a christening in the Bercey quarter which one has ever heard of outside farcical comedy. A father and godfather agreed on the name of a child before the christening, and the father, although he was but ill pleased with the name—Joseph—consented to have it registered at the office of births. On the day of the ceremony, however, he began to regret having given way to the godfather and over the font announced the child's name to be "Theophile." The godfather would not yield and shouted out that his godson's name was Joseph. From shouting they got to blows. The guests took sides and the scandalized priest was powerless to stop the brawl. Finally the police came into the neither Joseph nor Theophile.

A PROPOSAL BY TELEPHONE.

(From the Detroit Free Press.) Of all the bashful young men in Detroit the most bashful on record lives in the northwestern part of the city. There is a certain young lady on whom his affections had been centered for two years, but he could never screw his courage to the proposing point. Time and again he left home with a fixed determination to put his fate to the test, but his bravery all at once melted in her presence. After defeat had followed defeat he sat down to write her, but language fled from him. A quire of paper and half a night were wasted, leaving him a nerve-shaken, disconsolate lover.

The next morning he took a strong cup of coffee and further braced himself by throwing out his chest, talking loud to the rest of his family and telling them that he had about decided to go into business for himself. Thus stimulated, he went to the telephone, called her up and made one of the most direct proposals in all the varied annals of love. But before she could reply he was seized with a horrible fit of bashfulness and dropped the receiver as though it were red hot.

Twenty minutes later, when he slipped back on tip toes to learn if there might be any lingering echoes of the wire, she was still scolding the telephone girl because they had been cut off.

"Here I am, my angel," he took courage and shouted.

"Yes," she cooed back.

Then the bashful youth filled the house with war dances and wild whooping.

NO FOOLS LIKE OLD FOOLS.

(Brooklyn Times.)

It would have been well if the friends of Friend Edger, aged 80, and George Alger, aged 79, had appeared the quarrel of these venerable citizens before the matter was permitted to come into the court. It is not a pleasant thing at any time to see an old friendship turned into enmity, and it is infinitely worse when two old men, tottering on the brink of the grave, are allowed to air their animosity in the public amusement of the thoughtless. The quarrel might have been, and should have been composed without any needless publicity.

It is possible, as the defendant Alger said in his testimony, that the fight between the two old men began in what in schoolboys or apprentices might have been regarded as harmless skylarking. But when canes were flourished and blows struck in a wrangle between two octogenarians serious consequences are likely to ensue. In this case the jury evidently took the matter seriously, for it awarded $250 to the plaintiff as a solace to his injured feelings.

There are no fools like old fools. But the young folks who allow them to ventilate their folly in the courts are even more culpable.
